

Our Wedding Day

*Today is the day I vow a forever love.
A love I have been so blessed to share with you.
Knowing this is a love that begins with trust.
Understanding that a love as this has no end.
When the sun refuses to shine in your day,
I will be your sunshine.
If the rain continues, refusing to stop.
I will be your umbrella.
This love I promise you is a sacred love.
A love allowed only once in a lifetime.
Being so blessed we have the other to share this love.
Knowing this love is shared equally as love has to be.
Should you ever become lost and confused.
I will guide you back to our path of happiness.
When the nights become darker than ever known.
I will walk with you to the light.
There is no vow taken which means as much.
And I take these vows free and openly.
For love would have no meaning without you.
This is my promise not only on our wedding day.
But for each day that follows.*